HB 1381 - SB 1658

March 5, 2001

SUMMARY OF BILL: Clarifies the Department of General Services' authority to assess civil penalties for parking violations in state employee parking lots.

ESTIMATED FISCAL IMPACT:

Increase State Expenditures - Not Significant

Increase State Revenues - Not Significant

The Department of General Services has statutory authority for managing all state parking areas except the Legislative Plaza. This statutory authority includes the ability to have vehicles towed, but no specific authority to assess fines except in the Capitol Hill parking lot. The Capitol Police already enforce parking regulations in all state parking areas. Therefore, it is estimated that any increase in state expenditures due to the enforcement of the provisions of the bill is not significant.

To the extent civil penalties are imposed and collected that would not otherwise have been collected in absence of the bill, state revenues will increase. However, such increase in state revenues is estimated to be not significant.
